Report of the commission to the general assembly Â· (a) Form of the draft (b) Scope of the draft (c) Scheme of the draft. Â· Chapter II of the report, on succession of States in respect of treaties, contains a description of the Commission’s work on that topic, together with 39 draft articles and commentaries thereto, as finally approved by the Commission. Â· 13. The Secretary-General, recalling that at its present session the Commission was commemorating the twenty-fifth anniversary of its first session, stressed that during its twenty-five years of existence, the Commission had made an admirable contribution to the codification and progressive development of international law and thus to the fostering of friendly relations and co-operation among States and to the. 2012-13 2,286.2. Change from previous year (%) Queensland workers’ compensation scheme Number of lodged claims. 0.8 99,298. The manufacturing industry accounted for the largest proportion of claim lodgements with 14.4 per cent of all scheme lodgements. The largest claim increases were in the finance and insurance services industry, up 17.6 per cent from 767 to 902, and the construction industry, up 17.5 per cent from 11,063 to 13,000 (figure 10). Â· The Office of Industrial Relations reports the claim as a fatality if the claim is indicated by the insurer as a fatality under the Act on the individual application, taking into account the definitions of a worker, event and injury under the Act (s11, s31 and s32). Figure 14 below shows the fatal claim lodgement numbers, failure in 2012 of the Abingdon reservoir planning application that started in 1990 highlights the shortcomings of the planning system3. Demand for water is being managed in a variety of ways, including taking measures to reduce usage through metering, price increases and education, together with appropriate building design and specification. Â· This is an energy-intensive process that electrochemically separates salts from water. Â· A report written in 2006 by the Environment Agency (EA)6 estimated the investment costs for water transfer schemes. The cost of transferring water is reported within the EA report (Table 3).
